

Patte Terrell

Biography

Vocalist Patte Terrell a.k.a. “The Jazz Diva”, has shared the stage with such luminaries as organist Gene Ludwig, drummer Roger Humphries, voicist Barbara Sfraga and saxophonist Kenny Blake. With her own ensemble, she’s opened for such legends as saxophonist James Moody and has performed in venues where such notables as George Benson, Stanley Turrentine, Angela Bofill, and Diana Ross would be in attendance. Ms. Terrell is an accomplished songstress who has performed at the Apollo Theater and The Cotton Club in NYC, and worked with various Big Bands, paying tribute to Billie Holiday and Phyllis Hyman. Ms Terrell is known for soulfully interpreting and writing in a wide range of musical genres. She’s able to take a jazz standard and sing it with ownership without losing the integrity of the traditional form.

Recently Patte just completed recording a CD produced by the well known Norman Connors, and the official release of her highly anticipated Ultra Single, “My Love is All That” is forthcoming along with her promotional 2009 Calendar. Tour shows are also in pre-production and planning stages in New York, Ohio and PA. To her credit, here are a few testimonials about Patte’s talent:

“She’s soulful, sultry and can sangggg! She shows them all how it’s really done”.

Trumpeter, Roy Campbell, Jr.

“...she has a three octave range with a style and phrasing in the tradition of the great women of jazz. Beyond her ability to sing, she’s sleek and sexy. She could probably make a lot more money as a pop singer in a show band, but she has a clear and profound commitment to jazz”. – Bob Wagner, Pittsburgh NewsWeekly

“...the singer who has a soulful and powerful voice”.

Bob Karlovits, Pittsburgh Press

“Sit back on the sexy jazz cruise inside her rich voice and style”.

E. Gaines, Emage Talent Management

For more information & booking please contact Management and visit her MySpace at www.MySpace.com/PatteTerrell

Emage Modeling & Talent Agency, LLC

Ph: 412.722.9526 Fx: 412.722.9526 Email: Emagemodels@aol.com

Mailing Address: P.O. Box 302 McKees Rocks, PA 15136